GOYA® Capers are the closed flower bud of the "Capparis Spinosa", a wild, thorny plant native to the countries of the Mediterranean arc.

The superior quality of GOYA® Capers is monitored throughout the entire production process, and that's what gives them their divine flavor. Starting with their selection and harvesting, GOYA® Capers are hand-picked between late spring and early summer, always selecting the sizes that confer the highest quality. These strict controls are maintained during the manufacturing and packaging process to offer our consumers a first-class culinary experience.

Classic Capers

At Goya España we only pack the sizes that provide the highest quality, which are: Nonpareilles Capers (up to 7 millimeters diameter) and Capote Capers (diameter of between 9 and 11 millimeters). The younger the flower is and the smaller it is, the better texture and flavor it will have.

The South of Spain. Origin of excellency

Goya olives are grown where the best olive groves in the world are found: the South of Spain.

A place where quality and tradition are not in question. Where the climate is the best ally to obtain a unique olive. Where the passion to surprise the world is inside every person who lives and works within the world of olives. We're going for a walk, are you coming?

The most awarded flavor

Goya Olives have been awarded Chefsbest seal continuously since 2007, and from 2014 to the present with the "Excellence" category in recognition of their great flavor and superior quality.

Creating excellence

There is only one path to attain true excellence. To achieve it, at Goya España we seek the very best raw materials and meticulously oversee every last detail of the production process to obtain top quality and an incomparable flavor of which we feel extremely proud.

The outcome of this hard work and dedication to offer families round the world the best of the best is GOYA® Olives and Capers, recognized with more than 90 international awards.
